If you are planning to apply for the B.Tech program using one, two, or all three of the following scores:

You are requested to wait and submit your application only after you have received the official scores for all the tests you wish to be considered.

"Inclusion of any score after the final submission of the application form will not be entertained."

What this means for you:

- No Post-Submission Edits: Once you click "Submit," your application is considered final. You will not be able to log back in to add a score that was released after your submission.
- Merit Consideration: To ensure you are evaluated on your best possible profile, do not rush the process until your scorecard portfolio is complete.
